Pat Hewitt helps kick things off at the Blind Duck

On stage at the Duck, entertainer Pat Hewitt applauds a drunken dancing alumni.

Homecoming is traditionally one of the biggest events at any university, and this being the 25th anniversary at Erindale College it promised to be filled with many things to do. Among the highlights of the weekend was the Pat Hewitt concert Friday night. Hewitt is something of an Erindale tradition himself, and so there was no trouble filling the pub to almost capacity with alumni and students alike.

With cries of "SOCIALE!" ringing through the Duck, Hewitt kept the crowd singing along and dancing on the somewhat crowded dance floor throughout the night. The affable performer is a solo act, who playing an assortment of classics and folk-type songs on his acoustic guitar, backed up by a drum machine.

Ending off to a diminished crowd - presumably some of the alumni are no longer the partiers they once were - with his trademark 'Unicorn', Hewitt was a great start to Erindale's Silver Anniversary Homecoming celebrations.

Alumni laugh along at one of Hewitt's humorous cracks.

The ECARA bed race team looks good, but didn't have the speed necessary to win the race.

Four teams of highly trained athletes in peak physical condition gathered in front of the South Building on Thursday, October 3 to compete for the coveted title of Bed Race Champions. Last year's winners, The Bed Heads, were unable to defend their crown due to injuries, leaving the door open for a new winner.

After Dean Silcox fired the starter's pistol, the race was on. In the first heat, the Department of Athletics pushed their way to a time of 2 minutes and 18 seconds with the French lit (bed for the unilingual) following closely behind. In heat 2, the Residence and Conference Centre bed clocked a fast 1:58 but it wasn't fast enough as the Campus Relations/Alumni Association Silver Streak dashed in with a time of 1:53.

First prize was $200, donated by Print Three - City Centre and Spizziri Creative and Marketing. The Silver Streak team will donate $100 to Erinoak, a treatment centre for disabled children and will pursue other interests with the remainder. Other prizes were awarded to the French team for Most Sportsmanlike Bed (a decision which is being appealed by the Department of Athletics). The Residence and Conference Centre won the Best Costumes award. A special award was presented to Karen Thiffault of the Residence and Conference Centre for enthusiasm and Sportsmanship displayed during the event.

25 years from now, Erindale students will be enjoying the leafy benefits of over 100 new trees planted on campus in commemoration of this year's silver anniversary. 50 students, professors, staff, alumni and friends of Erindale gathered behind the South Building science wing on Friday October 4 to help plant what will become a mini-forest of native trees. Braving the rain and wielding both umbrellas and shovels, teams of enthusiastic workers planted the trees, under the watchful eye of grounds crew staff and members of the Grounds Monitoring Committee. The Committee, chaired by Professor Nick Collins, originated the idea of planting a stand of native trees as a tribute to our reputation as the U of T's greenest campus. The particular species of trees were selected by Professor Phil Maycock for their suitability to the area, and included White and Red Oak, Maple, Trembling Aspen, Sassafras, Black Cherry, Flowering Dogwood, and Tulip Trees.

Following the planting, the participants enjoyed refreshments including hot apple cider courtesy of Chudleigh's, the well-known apple orchard business, which also celebrates its 25th anniversary this year.

Erindale does its part to beautify the environment at a tree planting ceremony last Friday.

Erindale float didn't take the cake - this time!

This year's theme for the Homecoming Parade was 'What 50,000 students at U of T can do best...' Erindale's response was somewhat tailored by the fact that it is the Silver Anniversary of Erindale College, and so accordingly they chose to go with a '...gets better with time' motif.

Erindale joined in the flatbed half of the competition, sending down a large flatbed trailer with a dozen students representing Erindale by wearing blown up pictures of the various Erindale buildings through their stages and improvements, Radio Erindale blasting out a variety of music spanning the ages, and a large silver birthday cake. Unfortunately the panel of judges decided that our float was slightly inferior to that of Dentistry, and so the coveted parade award that once belonged to Erindale eluded us this time around. The judges for the event were Robert Pritchard, Joan Foley, David Neelands, Gordon Cressy, Peter Guo, and Pierre Paquette, a representative from Monnex, a company that sponsored U of T Day.

The two winners on the day were Dentistry in the flatbed competition, and the Faculty of Education in the non-flatbed competition, although SAC President Peter Guo admitted that Engineering did have a strong float also.

On the whole things went well, however the antics of Trinity College, combined with the protest that was going on during the day, did dampen the overall success of the day.

Gala Birthday Dinner

On Saturday October, 5, 1991, dozens of Erindale's faculty, staff, alumni and friends gathered at the Regal Constellation Hotel to celebrate the College's Silver Anniversary.

After a fine dinner Mississauga's Mayor Hazel McCallion reflected upon the College's past and the importance of Erindale Campus to the city. "I remember Paul Fox got everyone so involved in the University, I thought I was going there," she said of the former principal.

The past Principals of the College, Drs. J. Tuzo Wilson, Edward Robinson, Paul Fox, Desmond Morton and Acting Principal Dr. Roger Beck were all in attendance. Also enjoying the evening were Ignat and Didi Kaneff.

Some of the special guests drew for door prizes and the notable winners were Dr. Paul Fox, who received a business travellers package from Bell Cellular and Bud Taggart who won two greens fees on the new Lion's Head Golf Course. "There will be about $15 000 dollars in course repairs", he said after receiving the prize.

The winner of the grand prize was Margaret Fisher who won the use of an exotic car for a day, donated by Executive Choice Prestige Automobiles. However, she will need to come up with a security deposit of $4500. Because she doesn't drive standard, Margaret was leaning towards a Mercedes 500SL Coupe, a car which sells for $120,000, but students can rent it for $399 per day.

George Oliver and the Gangbusters provided music after dinner. They were well received, however most of the guests chose to talk with each other rather than dancing.

medium II asked some of the alumni in attendance for their memories of their time at Erindale:

Anne-Marie Haig Applin, a member of the Class of 74 and now a marketing and communications executive, remembers Tuzo's (Wilson) wife served a formal tea in fine china from her private collection for students who were all wearing jeans and also remembers the huge blood donor clinics that were attended by hundreds of the College's students.

Dave Hallet, Class of 84, a former ECSU Vice-President, said "the best thing about being on ECSU was being able to gang up 300 people, go downtown and raise hell." When asked if the Council he served on did anything memorable, Hallet replied, "We hired Uwe (Stoetzel, former Blind Duck Pub Manager)."

Steve Harding, Class of 83, remembers not going to school for a week during the evacuation following the train derailment of 1979.

Anthony Palermo, Class of 85 and a former ECSU Academic director said of his time here, "for me as a member of ECSU I had a good feeling when I got people to realize that Erindale is not just a community college."

Pub Security Increased

by Bob Seredivik

medium II October 4th, 1976.

As many of you have probably noticed, there have been a few changes in the campus pub, the least of which is its name.

Many of these changes are the direct result of charges now before the courts. The case, now nearly a year old, has been remanded until October 14th, 1976.

In November 1975, Mr. Malcolm as Head of Services and signatory for the liquor license, was charged with having liquor on the table after 1:30 a.m. and the staff having a beer fight at the bar.

Since then the case has gone slowly. The Crown, represented by Mr. Cowan, submitted evidence by two police officers who were at the scene.

Mr. Blue, representing Mr. Malcolm for the University of Toronto, raised two objections. Firstly, he claimed the formal charge was defective. It contained the word "unlawfully" when in fact the statute did not use the word.

Secondly, he claimed the crown hadn't presented enough evidence to warrant the defense to submit its evidence.

The judge overruled both objections, and they were back in the courts last Wednesday, September 28th. The defense, feeling the Crown had not proven its case beyond a reasonable doubt, chose to present no evidence.

In the meantime, the judge will review the evidence and make his judgment in a written statement to both parties before October 14th.

If the judge rules the evidence sufficient they must return on that date for sentencing, otherwise the case is dismissed.

If found guilty the University could be fined, have its license suspended or both.

Some steps were taken to reduce pilfering of glassware. Screens were placed on the windows, the south doors became fire exits only and entry and exit was limited to the north door. This will also save wear and tear on the dance floor. Last winter people trekking across it caused water damage and the floor had to be partially rebuilt.

All of this is costing us, the students, money. To pay for damages, the price of beer and liquor had to be raised. Then there's the $1000-plus to repair the washroom.

However, much of the damage was believed to have been caused by outsiders. Therefore, the number of guests allowed per student has been reduce from 3 to 1. Guests must also pay higher admission prices. Besides, for every alien inside, an Erindale student must wait outside.

Manager of the Blind Duck, Jerry Scanlon, said so far this year, there have been no serious incidents. It seems the measures are proving successful in controlling the pilfering and the vandalism without seriously hampering the atmosphere.

Residences

The Erindalian, October 25, 1972.

The long awaited residences for Erindale College are expected to be built by August 1, 1972. The tenders and plans are expected to be submitted by planners by Nov. 1, 1972.

At the last meeting of the Erindale College Council on October 16, a committee was formed to make recommendations to the administration on the design of the residences and the policies by which they will operate. In a motion by Paul Moran and Peter Smith, the membership of the committee was defined as two students in residence, two students not currently in residence, and two faculty. There will be one member of the committee who will not be voting.

Chico's Pub

From the article "Clark Kent Reports"

The Erindalian, September 26, 1972.

The general indication from students this year is that pub prices are high. Many returning third and fourth year students remember the days when beer was 35 cents.

As the pub manager Frank Pio has mentioned, the price increase was due to the need to pay off new furniture which has not yet arrived.

At the recent meeting of the Colman House Committee the beer prices were ratified. The prices may remain at 50 cents a bottle in order to pay off the cost of furnishing a new pub in the college building currently under construction.

New furniture is not the only cost. A liscense for each pub costs $15.00. The article on salaries also explains a portion of the costs. The pub manager is paid $15.00 a pub plus he collects $10.00 for clean up. The workers in the pub earn $2.00 an hour and there is at least one man working besides Frank the manager.

The Erindale pub is becoming less enticing in comparison to local watering holes. But Smitty's Pancake House at Sheridan Mall is looking better every day. Bottled beer is 60 cents each. The atmosphere is much different than Chico's and palatable food is available.

SAGE SHAKEN BY WAVE OF APATHY LITTLE RESPONSE TO ELECTION CALL

The Erindalian, Wednesday, October 20, 1971.

In keeping with the miserable attitude found here at Erindale, the final day for nomination in the up and coming mini-elections has been extended to next Friday.

Apparently unbeknownst to many, the final deadline was the 13th of October, then the 15th, and now, upon the realisation that only one application had been filled out and returned, the deadline has been extended until the 22nd. Asked why there had been such poor response with regards to applicants for the candidacy, S.A.G.E. replied, "it's probably our fault."

Yes, only one application has been received at the S.A.G.E. (Student's Administrative Government of Erindale) offices. Rumour has it that two more people were interested, a fact substantiated by the fact that three applications were given out. Unfortunately, there are seven positions open to the student body.

Perhaps the most prominent position still open is that of Vice-President. Think of it, being able to tell your grandchildren that you were a Vice-President!

The position holds great responsibility and promises lots of work, and generally asks the individual to provide an air of educated leadership.

If anyone, having read this article, has been spirited into a mood of democratic adventure, then drop by the S.A.G.E. office and pick up your applications for Erindale's very own mini-elections.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the directors of
Medium II Publications

We have audited the balance sheet of Medium II Publications as at April 30, 1991 and the statements of revenues, expenses and accumulated surplus for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. These standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial presentation.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the organization as at April 30, 1991 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Football - the Fall Fancy

Despondant Varsity Blue Paul Brown reflects the mood of the day after the Blues loss at the hands of the Wilfred Laurier Golden Hawks in Saturday's homecoming game.

Despite the valiant efforts of our Blues on plays such as this, the homecoming festivities were spoiled by the Wilfred Laurier Golden Hawks on a chilly, yet dry afternoon at Varsity Stadium.

Engineers squeak by Erindale's Warriors

Blues can't fly with the Golden Hawks

Along with all the homecoming celebrations during Erindale's Silver Anniversary there was the highlight of the traditional homecoming football game. Well, it wasn't as good a highlight as usual, because the Varsity Blues lost 18-0 to a strong Laurier Golden Hawks team.

The Blues' outstanding tailback, Lorne King, returned to the lineup for this all important game, hoping to making up for lost time, after his three game absence due to injury. However, even the mighty King, rushing for 31 yards on 11 carries, could not boost the Blues enough to defeat the aggressive Hawks.

The Blues did limit Laurier, a team averaging 42.3 points a game, to only 368 total yards, but unfortunately the Blues were even less successful with 264 yards and a whopping zero points scored. Blues' coach Bob Laycoe described it all, saying "We gained only one less yard than when we defeated Laurier 32-14 last year, but the big difference was that in 1991 we couldn't finish off our drives."

Better luck to Coach Laycoe and the Blues in the Blue Bowl against York.

In the Erindale version of Homecoming, the Warriors were edged out 7-0 by a lucky Engineers squad.

The Erindale Warriors are facing an uncertain future in regards to a position in the playoffs after suffering a bitter 7-0 loss to the Engineer (SKULE) squad on their own homefield. Their record after 3 games is a disappointing 1 win and 2 losses. What is most frustrating is that here is a team comprised of about 90% of the same players as last year who finished the season with 4 wins, one tie, one loss record and went to the Mulock Cup Finals. This year it doesn't look as promising. After three games their offence has only managed to collect a meagre total 13 points while the defence, although from points against may look good, has allowed 23 points. The same team last year had single game points offensively equalling total points for and against at this point in time last year.

What changes have caused this ominous turnabout? Perhaps the loss of key players like linemen Carlos and Borys, kicker Nolan and dare we say- Tightend Tautie "The Aardvark" have caused this slump? Maybe there is unrest among the ranks, and last years rookies which were the heart and soul of the team have lost the winning desire.

With only 3 games left in the regular season these "Warriors" are going to have to get their act together by displaying more aggressive basic football skills, and less aggressive behavior amongst themselves. (Yes when players on the same team bark at each other on the way off of the field more discipline among themselves is necessary.)

Come on Warriors, show us what you're really made of, make the College proud of their football team.

Erindale College is known as the 'green' college at U of T, but the true beauty of the campus is revealed when the colours of fall begin to show, somedium II wishes you all a happy Thanksgiving.
